Supporting parents ~ supporting children

Addressing the k(not) in your stomach...this session is designed to support parents as they navigate their gifted child's education from Prep through to Secondary school. For many, this can be daunting and challenging, especially when, as a parent, you're not sure yourself what your child needs. With a focus on both parental and child well-being, this session will share a range of solution-focused strategies that aim to build trusting, productive and respectful partnerships between parents and schools.

Additionally, we'll hold a Q&A session so please bring your questions!
